Event Title: Homecoming Grams

Profit: $275

How many people it takes to complete: 10

Description of the event: We ask around the music building if anyone would like to purchase a homecoming gram for someone. What a gram is, is a little bag filled with candy. They are given out to the person that they were bought for on the Friday before the football game, and they are also passed out at the game. Those who are not in marching band get them on Friday, and those who are get them after performing half-time.

Event Title: Band Camp Concessions

Profit: $900-$1000

How many people it takes to complete: 10

Description of the event: Texas Tech School of Music holds a week long summer camp for band, orchestra, drum majors, twirlers, and colorguard. During the day, we opened a concession stand in the main hallway with powerade, chips, and other snacks. In between sessions, most campers would be passing by our table. We also sold roses and carnations. Fueled by band camp romances and jokes, notes could be attached to the flowers and would be read and passed out at the daily camp assembly.

Event Title: The Pitch

Profit: $270

How many people it takes to complete: 14

Description of the event: It's a singing competition, like the Voice. We worked with 3 other music organizations, including KKPSI. We held auditions for people who wanted to be in competition. Each judge turned for their favorite singers. The singers picked their team. The teams then had 2 weeks to work with the singers and find a song that worked well with their singing styles. Then, we held the final competition for a big audience. The audience chose the winner.

Event Title: Parent's day

Profit: $~600

How many people it takes to complete: 5

Description of the event: This fundraiser works by creating apparel with the Pride of Oklahoma logos on them and creating shirts with "Mom" and "Dad" on them to sell to Pride parents on OU's parents day. On this day, parents are allowed to come to an OU football game with their kids. They meet in the band hall, where we sell the t-shirts. They love the shirts and we love the outcome!

Chapter: Alpha -Oklahoma State University

Event Title: Tau Beta Sigma Waffle Fundraiser

Profit: Around $140 profit ($35-50 expenses depending on what you already have and can borrow)

How many people it takes to complete:

Description of the event: Similar to holding a bake sale but requires no baking beforehand. Buy waffle mix that only needs water and you can make the batter right at the table. Have two waffle makers so you can keep making waffles. That's it! Other items you can sell are juice boxes and fun toppings for an extra price. This could include whipped cream, peanut butter or chocolate chips. Syrup and butter come with each waffle. We sell each waffle for $2, then 50 cents for fun toppings and 75 cents for a juice box. This always goes over very well and has become one of the fundraisers our chapter is known for! As far as supplies, make sure you have an area with power sockets, an extension cord, waffle maker(s), a bowl to make batter in and the appropriate amount of plates napkins and silverware.

Event Title: Tau Beta Sweethearts

Profit:$150

How many people it takes to complete: 13

Description of the event: We set up a table in our Alumni Student Center the week before Valentine's day and sold "make-your-own" lollipop bouquets. The prices varied based off what the customer desired, but we included a complementary ribbon with every purchase. We used ideas from the internet to find the supplies and the basic styles for people to choose from. The lollipops were 25 cents, the flowers were 50 cents, and the extra frilly things ranged from 25 cents to a dollar. People were able to pick and choose what they wanted and we would build it in front of them.

Chapter: Alpha Upsilon

Event Title: Tau Beta Taco Tuesday

How Much it Made: $230

How many people it takes to complete: 21

Description of the event: For this fundraiser we purchased 15 pounds of both chicken and beef and brought it to our music building prepared in advance in crock pots. We used the crock pots to keep the meat warm throughout the day. We also purchased toppings for tacos including cheese, lettuce, homemade salsa, and jalapeños. After purchasing the meat, toppings, canned drinks, ice, and plates we spent $75. We sold plates with two tacos and a drink for $5 and also had sisters donate desserts that could be purchased for an additional $1. We sold our tacos from 11-3 and ended up selling out before 3. After subtracting our expenditures we made a $230 profit. I would like to include that we always set out a donation jar at our fundraisers to allow faculty and students who may not want to purchase what we are selling a chance to support us! We also use a square card reader that maximizes our profit since most people do not carry around cash.
